Forest, magical glades, heath, arboretum, views, parkland

In Brief

This is a circular walk in East Sussex through a magnificent hilly forested landscape with many magical encounters. Ashdown Forest is not a single forest but a complex arrangement of wild woods, landscaped forest, deep stream valleys, open parkland and heath. This walk tries to show you all its best features with constantly changing views in different directions.

Ashdown Forest has many uncharted paths so you need to be careful in following this text. The terrain was completely dry when the walk was planned in summer, but there was some dried mud, so boots are preferable to normal shoes. There are some nettles, so shorts are not a good idea. There is only one (pet friendly) stile. There is one very overgrown section where a hiking pole will be useful. This walk would be ideal with a dog.

The walk begins at the Hindleap car park, east of Sharpthorne, nearest postcode RH18 5JQ, www.w3w.co/buffoon.winds.successor, grid ref TQ403324 (small charge by phone). For a half-way refreshment break at Chelwood Gate, a start at Forest Row, postcode RH18 5AZ, may be preferable, with a free car park at Tompsets Bank, near the entrance to the golf club, postcode RH18 5BT. For more details see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

This walk is also the start of the Ashdown Forest Monster.

The Walk

Leg 1: Hindleap to Chelwood Gate 4 km=2½ miles

- 1 Immediately on arriving at the car park, you have a fine view south over the Weald of Kent and East Sussex, as well as some of the terrain to be experienced today. Go across the grass towards the view south, past a slanted information tablet on the subject of the fauna of the heath. 20m after the tablet, turn left on a wide level path, passing a bench on your left. Keep ahead for some distance, with the thicker wood always on your right. In 300m keep left, ignoring two paths into the wood on your right. 200m further, the path forks into two smaller paths. Avoid the left-hand path which leads up to a small car park and instead take the right-hand fork. Immediately turn sharp right again on a path downhill deep into the woods.

- 2 In 150m, the path comes out of the tall trees into the light. In another 70m, leave the path by turning left through a very clear wide gap leading immediately to a tarmac lane. Turn left for 10m and right on a fingerposted bridleway. The bridleway leads through a metal gate with great views ahead, continues on a fenced path, goes through two more metal gates and descends widely-spaced steps. You go past a bypassable metal gate, over a horse-sturdy wooden bridge and up a bank. You now have a lovely sandy wide path for some distance through the pines of Press Ridge Warren. As you proceed, two more paths join from the left, another branches off right and a wide crossing path intersects. [Jan 2023: the terrain here was churned up by forestry work; the paths just mentioned were hard to see through the debris; it may be easier to fork left up to the steel bar mentioned below, and then turn immediately right; the path used in the next section will be next on the left.] The path snakes uphill and finally you meet a junction with a wide straight path joining from the left and a track branching off left to a horizontal steel bar. Keep right here on a narrow path into trees and, after some old gate posts, turn left with the main path up a bank and turn right on a wide track.

- 3 Cross over a wide driveway, a fraction right, onto another wide track, with a cricket pitch visible on your left. The path rises into a more open area of gorse and heather. Avoid a path forking left, pass a small wood on your left, identified as Harold Macmillan Clump on the sign board, and soon veer right to join a path coming from the left. Continue to a road junction and keep ahead on the main road, passing the Red Lion pub on the left. The Red Lion (Shepherd Neame) is an old pub with a front garden, a patio and a large extension used as a dining room serving traditional food.

Leg 2: Chelwood Gate to the Vachery 2½ km=1½ miles

- 4 Shortly, a road sign informs you that you are in Chelwood Gate. Fork left onto Beaconsfield Road (signposted to Nutley). Where this residential road curves left, fork right into Sandy Lane. In just 50m, turn left through an entrance in the fence onto a footpath marked with a stone sign. Don't miss this turn. Keep left and, in 10m, leave the drive by forking left on a footpath, which is indicated with a stake and a sign. The path takes you along the extreme right-hand edge of a garden, through a dark thicket of laurels and holly, through a swing gate and across the centre of a small grassy pasture. It now goes through a swing-gate in the far corner and by a wire fence along a meadow with a (rather overgrown but quite walkable) boardwalk part of the way. Finally you encounter a stream, an enclosed path, a stile and a gravel drive emerging at a road next to Woodlands. Turn left on the road.

- 5 Ignore a drive right marked as a footpath and, after about 200m, turn right on a narrow footpath just after Andorra. Don't miss this turn. The path widens after passing the garden, is fenced at first and then runs briefly through open woodland, crosses the drive to a house on your right and reaches a T-junction with a tarmac drive. Turn left on the drive, thus leaving the official footpath. Just 20m before the junction with the main road ahead, turn right on a narrow path and cross the main road to a marked bridleway opposite.
- 6 Follow this wide sandy track into the trees and downhill through Beacon Wood, staying always on the main path. You reach the Mill Brook at the bottom. This spot one is of the Forest's secret gems, with the brook and the Folly Bridge beyond. You have a choice of stepping stones or a narrow wooden bridge to cross the stream. Go through the arch of the stone Folly

Bridge (which was built as a pleasing feature of the landscape rather than as a practical necessity) and continue ahead on a track that runs through the Woodland Garden of Chelwood Vachery.

The Vachery was a woodland shelter for cows. The woods here were royal land until the late 1600s. The spectacular conifers that you will see shortly were planted just after the turn of the 1900s by the new owner Sir Stuart Samuel as part of an arboretum. The Woodland Garden is now managed by the Ashdown Forest Conservators so, miraculously, it is as accessible as other parts of the Forest.

In 10m avoid paths either side and continue on the main track winding uphill. In another 100m, you meet a large old wooden gate on your left, with a no horses sign.

This part of the Ashdown Forest Monster ends here, ignoring this gate.

- 7 Turn left here through (i.e. round) the gate. Your path passes through a magical landscape with many conifers. In 70m it joins a path from the left, shortly passing on your left a huge western hemlock. In 300m, at a crossing path, go straight over. In a further 250m, the main path turns left to cross the stream. 25m after the bridge, turn sharp right at a bend in the main path to emerge onto the open heath. Keep ahead through bracken, up a grassy slope, to a very wide sandy track and turn right on it.

Leg 3: The Vachery to Ashdown Park Hotel 2½ km=1½ miles

- 8 In 200m, avoid a track sharp right. In another 300m, the track bends right. You come to a T-junction with a track that runs parallel to the main road, the A22. Cross straight over the track ahead to find a very narrow path through the band of trees taking you out to the road. Cross the road carefully, continue on the other side, about 10m to your left, and go right through the gates of Lewes Park Cottages on a footpath (note the wall made of sheep skulls).
- 9 The path goes past cottages into trees and curves left, running past a few sheds and back gardens, until suddenly, after 200m, you pass by an redundant stile and reach a fine grassy path with the wide open landscape of Ashdown Park Hotel all around. The Hotel itself is in full view ahead to the right and there is a seat from which to admire the view.

Leg 4: Ashdown Park Hotel to Forest Row 2½ km=1½ miles

- 11 Cross the road straight over to a wide footpath directly opposite. Stay on the semi-tarmac path avoiding tracks off. After nearly 500m, you see ahead a metal gate marked private. 20m before the gate, at a sign and a post with a yellow arrow, turn left and in 30m, at a signpost, turn right on a rough sunken track. In 50m, you come to a fork. Take the right fork, a gentler but knobby path. Soon your route meets the rough track again and turns right on it. In late spring the woods here are carpeted with bluebells. After 500m more, you meet a gap beside a wire fence post leading onto an open landscape of tall pines. Turn left immediately before the post, past a yellow arrow on an oak, on a path which is narrow and bendy at the start but quickly widens and becomes clear.

Ashdown Forest is one of the few areas where maps do not show the footpaths accurately. The footpath that branches left on the Explorer map across the golf links is not exactly in the place indicated and is sparsely signposted. There is public access over the golf course, as you will see from the many dog walkers.

- 12 In 100m, your path descends a bit over fallen tree trunks and becomes more twisty. 80m further, on your right is a huge yew tree on a bank. Veer right round the yew, go rapidly down-up over two more banks and immediately go straight over a crossing path. This very knobby path is joined by another path from the right just before you come out of the trees and reaches the edge of the golf links. Cross straight over the fairway (checking first for flying golf balls) passing two bridges and the stream on your left. (You can go over the bridges for fun.) Turn right along the left-hand side of the fairway with the stream and a narrow band of birch trees on your left. Go over another large wooden bridge-with-rails (note the yellow arrow) and veer a fraction right towards a wooden seat and a large green-roofed shed that adjoins the clubhouse.
- 13 Turn left on the track and walk past the clubhouse and alongside the car park on the main drive, passing the practice tees. (On the map, the footpath cuts straight across the greens but it seems kinder to the golfers to use their own access road.) Royal Ashdown Forest Golf Club has two courses, the Old and the West. At the end of the drive, turn left into Shalesbrook Lane, avoiding a rough track sharp left which leads to the cricket pitch. Or, for a refreshment diversion, turn right along Chapel Lane to reach the centre of Forest Row where there are several pubs and other amenities.

Leg 5: Forest Row to Hindleap 4 km=2½ miles

The Ashdown Forest Monster re-joins this walk here.

- 14 In 25m, fork left on the lane as for Tompset's Bank. Always stay on the tarmac, avoiding paths leading off and avoid Inkpen Lane that forks right. Your lane passes signposted tracks left and right. After Cherry Croft, the lane becomes a stony drive. After Deerhyrst Cottage stay with the drive as it bends right and is joined by a track from the left, passing a handsome beech. Stay on the main drive as it bends left again in front of the entrance to Monks Wood and follow it all the way to the main road, going over a crossing drive.

- 15 Cross the road, going down a steep bank* to the tarmac footway, and turn left on it. In about 100m fork right onto a footpath by a fence into woods. In 50m, ignore a footpath and yellow arrow pointing right, and keep ahead past a low wooden bar. Keep to the main path at all times, avoiding turnings off. The path, sometimes narrow, runs for some distance staying within audible distance of the main road. It twice curves left uphill. Finally, about 600m after you first joined the path, it bends right down into the valley. It takes you over a sturdy bridge (2020 closed to horses!), known as The Crook Crossing, and veers left. 80m after the bridge your path bends sharp right up to the top of a small hill. Bear left, now on a wide grassy path. The landscape all around here is memorable, dotted everywhere with isolated conifers. The path runs through a long patch of woodland and then rises again straight ahead over the hillside. It is worthwhile here turning around to admire the extensive views to the north. At the top, the path meets a wide sandy track coming from the right. Cross straight over to join the wide track, thus avoiding the grass path that branches left towards the woods. The track curves left and, after 250m, leads to a road, Priory Road.
- 16 Cross the road to a track opposite and immediately turn left on a path that runs at first parallel to the road. After 500m in attractive and varied woodland, the path crosses a stream bed. Keep generally straight on, avoiding any paths leading off right. In another 150m you reach a bench with a view and the Goat Car Park. Go through the car park to meet Priory Road again. Cross Priory Road to a road sign pointing to Wyck Cross and take a narrow unmarked path into the trees immediately beside the sign (the sign seems to point to your path!). The path curves left through trees and come out to an open area. Keep right across the area to Hindleap Lane. Cross this road, a fraction left, on an unsigned path onto the open heath to take a final look at the beautiful view, then turn left in 100m and left again back to the car park where the walk began.

The Ashtown Forest Monster also ends here.

Getting there

By car: the Hindleap car park (NS grid ref 403325) is just off the road to Wyck Cross near Sharpthorne.

If you are coming from the east side of the M25, take the A22 through East Grinstead and Forest Row and turn right (west) at the Wyck Cross traffic lights. The car park is 1 mile (1.5km) on the left.

If you are coming from the west side of the M25, with easy access to the M23, the following route is recommended (see the Map) as it is more interesting and avoids East Grinstead. Take the M23 past Gatwick Airport and turn left at the next junction, the A264 (East Grinstead). At the second roundabout, turn right, signposted Turner's Hill. A mile after Turner's Hill the road forks. Take the left fork signposted West Hoathly and Sharpthorne. Pass through both these large villages, and another 2 miles (3 km) after Sharpthorne, turn right at a crossroads signposted Wyck Cross. The car park is a short distance on the right.

By bus/train: Metrobus 291 runs from East Grinstead station to Forest Row, including Sundays: check the timetable. Metrobus 270 runs from East Grinstead station to Chelwood Gate, similarly.
