

---

Kings Wood (Challock)

---

Distance: 5¾ km=3½ miles

easy walking

Region: Kent

Date written: 18-sep-2014

Author: Malinovka

Last update: 20-dec-2018

Refreshments: Molash

Map: Explorer 137 (Ashford) but the maps in this guide should be sufficient

Problems, changes? We depend on your feedback: feedback@fancyfreewalks.org

Public rights are restricted to printing, copying or distributing this document exactly as seen here, complete and without any cutting or editing. See Principles on main webpage.

Woodland, nature reserve, valley walk, pub

---

In Brief

---

In this hidden corner of East Kent is a vast and beautiful woodland, containing every kind of tree, showing wonderful colours in autumn (indeed, in any season) and with a stunning display of bluebells in late spring. This walk takes you through what we call the Valley Walk, since it runs in a series of shallow valleys with gorgeous woods on both sides. At the centre point you can call in at the George Inn which has won accolades for good food. (To enquire, since the George Inn is very popular, ring 01233-740323.)

There are no nettles or brambles on this walk. Sensible walking shoes or trainers should be adequate. With only one stile, this walk is ideal for your dog, but you will need to keep tight control for the 250m along the main road; note that the pub is no longer dog-friendly.

The walk begins at the northwesterly King's Wood car park, White Hill, off Buck Street, near Challock, Kent, nearest postcode TN25 4AR. (There are two car parks in White Hill: the one you want is nearer Challock.) For more details, see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

The Walk

---

- 1 See map overleaf. The parking bays at Kings Wood are named after the various trees that you find in this wood: douglas fir, oak, hawthorn, birch, chestnut. From the back of the car park, take the main path across a clearing with the remains of an information tablet and memorial stone on your left and a large fingerpost on your right indicating Picnic Site Walks and Sculpture. Take the main path through the woods, an old chestnut coppice. You come out into an open space with an information board on your left. Unfortunately most of the sculpture has decayed, making the sculpture trail rather superfluous now, until hopefully it is restored in the future.

- 2 Turn immediately right and follow a path that curves left round the edge of the open area. Before the path curves left again, you come to a post with a red arrow indicating the sculpture walk. Turn right here on a clear but narrow path between birches and chestnut. Avoid a left branch opposite a yew tree and, at a 3-way junction, take the left fork, following a red arrow on a post. Avoid a small path on your right by a little memorial post, staying in the open. You are now following a path along the right-hand side of an open strip curving gently left. You reach a wide vehicular crossing track.
- 3 Go straight over the crossing track, thus leaving the trail of red arrows. You are in a wonderful woodland valley path with every kind of tree. Your path goes over a crossing forestry path and continues, wider now, through more lovely woodland. You cross another path, this time more grassy. Ignore a path forking right uphill soon after. Finally you reach a junction of paths with a pair of fir trees and a hidden bench. Go straight ahead, crossing a wide track diagonally, joining a narrow grassy path on the other side. Soon you approach a wooden barrier and a stile.

- 4 Do not go over the stile by the barrier but instead, 15m before the barrier, turn very sharp left uphill by a post with a yellow arrow. Your path goes quite steeply up, reaching another post with a yellow arrow and a sunken path. Turn right on this sunken path which takes you up to a fence, over a stile and out of the wood. Take a path straight ahead across the field. The path may be faint after ploughing or it may be through grass for hay. At the other side, go through a modern kissing gate and straight across the next field. At the corner, the path continues along the left-hand side. You come out to the main road. Straight ahead on the lane, as a short there-and-back diversion, there is the little church of St Peter, Molash. Turn left, immediately reaching the George Inn at Molash.

The George Inn has been rather smug after winning the 'Kent dining pub of the year' award in 2013 but with good reason as the food and the drink are consistently good. No craft brews are available but with Adnams Southwold, Harveys and Doombur there is enough to satisfy. Lunch is served 12-2.30. You will need to remove your boots! No dogs unfortunately.

- 5 After possible refreshment, continue on the main road (i.e. left coming out of the pub) using the footway on the other side, taking care when crossing. In 250m, opposite some houses by a little green, turn left on Pound Lane. Follow this tarmac lane past houses and, where the tarmac ends, continue on a track to meet the fine new Oathill Farm House. Turn right passing the house on your left, on a grassy path beside a fence. Your path goes up through bracken and suddenly you are back in fine woodland, with tall beeches and, in late spring, bluebells. Follow the path [2014: round a fallen tree and a tree trunk] until finally you reach a very wide forester's track at a bend.
- 6 Cross straight over the track, taking a grassy path on the other side. This path widens and goes very gently uphill between old chestnut coppices. Soon on your left is an open area. (The extent of the open area may vary with forestry clearing.) About 50m from the start of the open area, look for a wide crossing track coming down a slope on your right. Turn left here into the cleared area on a wide curvy path. In 150m you reach a T-junction with a wide stony track. Turn left on the track.
- 7 In 20m turn right and immediately fork right again on a narrow path. This path zigzags wildly between chestnut shrubs. In just over 150m, you meet a crossing path on the edge of the woods. Cross straight over into the woods on a narrow path. In 100m, veer left where a path joins you from the right. In 100m, your path swings right and then left across a cleared area which, at the time of writing (2014) is undergoing forestry work. Your path enters the line of trees on the left of the cleared area and, in 50m more, takes you back to the car park where the walk began.

Getting there

---

By car: Kings Wood is easily accessed from the M20 at Ashford. Leave the motorway at Exit 9 signed Ashford, Faversham. At the first roundabout, turn left for Faversham A251. Keep straight on over four more roundabouts, large and “mini”, to a T-junction with the A251. Turn left, signed Challock, Faversham, immediately going past the ornate Eastwell Tower on your left. Stay on the road for about 3 miles. White Hill is very sharp right just before the first houses of Challock and is at a sign for Wye as well as a brown tourist sign for Stour Valley Arts. If you miss this turning, continue into Challock and do an about-turn at the roundabout.

By bus/train: bus 666 runs between Ashford and Faversham, stopping at Challock which is only about 1 km from the walk.

fancy more free walks? www.fancyfreewalks.org