Villages, meadows, woodland, views

In Brief

This is a perfect circular country walk, evenly divided between Surrey and West Sussex. This border land is famous for its beauty and tranquillity, and this walk has added excitement from the lower slopes of Blackdown.

The walk has a village in Surrey and in West Sussex at each extreme, so ramblers from two counties can begin the walk in either village and tour both counties to decide which is more beautiful. The walk begins in the charming village of Chiddingfold Surrey, postcode GU8 4TU, with its two pubs, tea room and the Chiddingfold Butcher, celebrated for his amazing sausages. Walkers from Sussex can begin in the equally delightful village of Northchapel, postcode GU28 9HZ, beginning and ending the walk at Leg 3 with a choice of lunch stops in Chiddingfold. If starting in Chiddingfold, park alongside the Green. If starting in Northchapel park in Pipers Lane (just off the main road, east, at the north side, by the village green). For more details, see at the end of this text (→ Getting There).

There are some nettles on this walk, so shorts are not advisable, unless you have attachable leggings or slippers. The walk was planned during the wet summer of 2012 when boots were essential. In view of the distance, boots are always recommended. Your dog can come too if he is small: not all stiles have a gap or a dog gate.

Overview

The Walk

The Chiddingfold Super Monster begins here.

Leg 1: Chiddingfold to Shillinglee 4 km= 2½ miles

- 1 Go along the side of the Green towards the church and the Crown Inn. Just before the inn, go left through a passage, rejoining the road by a butcher's shop and continuing past the Swan Inn, crossing a bridge over the Anstead Brook and ignoring a side road. At a fingerpost after the last house, turn left on a signed footpath (often overgrown and easy to miss!). This narrow path runs between fences, by a field, through a modern kissing-gate and along the right-hand side of a meadow. At a post with a yellow marker go right up some steps and left beside a wire fence. This leads through a kissing-gate, uphill through a bluebell wood and over a stile into a sheep meadow. Turn left along the edge of the meadow.
- 2 Go over a stile in the corner onto a woodland path. Go carefully down the slope ahead, aided by steps, and pass a pond on your right. The path takes you over a stream, up and along a grassy path by a fence and a large pasture. The path elbows left by a gate and finally bends right to go over a stile. Turn left on the grass beside the driveway coming from Old Pickhurst and, at a T-junction, turn right on a road, avoiding a road junction on the left.
- 3 After 150m, go left over a stile into a small green meadow. Go forward with the meadow boundary on your left and, in less than 100m, head to the right over a small bridge and stile (careful! rickety) into a sheep pasture. Cross the pasture aiming for the right-hand edge of a line of trees on the other side. Once there, go through a metal gate and continue uphill next to a fence on your right. In the far corner, crossing some planks over a swampy patch, go through a metal kissing-gate and cross the centre of the next rough meadow, aiming to the right of a large cream-and-red house visible ahead, adjoining some long buildings (actually racing stables). Cross a ditch by a flat bridge, go over a stile next to a large metal gate to a road and turn left on it.
- 4 After only 40m, go right through a small black wooden gate on a signed narrow footpath. (There's a red notice Beware of Adders but they don't amount to much.) This short rather overgrown path comes out into the racing compound. Turn right in front of the first enclosure to come out via a small wooden gate into the yard. Turn right and immediately left, following a tarmac track, keeping watch for horses and riders. The track crosses a white-fenced "gallop" and becomes gravel. Follow the track as it curves first right* then left to go through a wide gap in the far hedge. Do not go through the gap but leave the track here by turning right along the edge of the grass. (*The statutory route is more elaborate. If you want to walk strictly by-the-rules, do as follows. Just before the track curves right, fork left across the grass, heading for a wide gap to the left of two massive oaks. As you go through the gap (careful - ditch!), you meet a two-way fingerpost. Turn right on the edge of a hayfield, beside the hedge on your right. Where you are joined by a cinder track, go right through a wide gap and immediately turn left along the edge of the grass.) In 15m, ignore the first yellow arrow on your left and continue to the far corner.

- 5 In the corner, go up over a 3-plank bridge and take a path straight ahead, gently uphill through a bluebell wood, Surrey Copse (now colonised by foxgloves after forestry work). Soon your path crosses an open strip under wires. At the top, veer left at a yellow arrow immediately reaching a fingerpost (hidden in trees on your left). Keep left to go over a stile or through a metal gate into a small meadow. Keep right across the meadow, with farm buildings on your right, go through two wooden gates and turn right to reach a tarmac lane. You have made a brief acquaintance with the Sussex Border Path. Turn left on the lane, Plaistow Road, avoiding the footpath ahead. Welcome to West Sussex!

Leg 2: Shillinglee to Northchapel 4½ km=3 miles

- 1 As you proceed, Shillinglee Park House can be seen over on your left. Shillinglee Park House is a late-Georgian house with a fascinating history involving the famous cricketers Ranji (Maharajah of Nawanagar) and W. G. Grace, plus Lawrence of Arabia and the future King Faisal of Iraq. Stay on the lane for another 700m as it bends left and right, until you meet a major road (Shillinglee Road) coming from the right. Go straight ahead past St Mellion and, on the right, an artist's studio. Where the road bends left, leave it to go straight ahead on a drive by a rough wooden sign for Park Mill Farm, soon darkened by small horse chestnuts. After 60m under the trees, turn right at a fingerpost over a stile on a path through an avenue of small trees. Your path takes you left over a stile into a large sloping pasture, possibly grazed by mares and their foals.

- 2 Turn right in the pasture and keep a straight line along the contour, in the direction of the fingerpost, with the sloping grass on your left, heading for a big wood ahead. You pass to the left of an oak, near a dead tree (which may disappear). After the oak, veer a fraction right and head for a stile in the tree line which may be almost hidden in bracken. (As a guide, the wood is made up of conifers on the right and broadleaf on the left: the stile is at the division between them.) The stile leads to a wide forest path between those conifers and broadleaves. The path immediately narrows and you pass a fingerpost, confirming your direction. Soon after, you come out of the wood into the open again.

- 3 A fingerpost points you left on a lovely grassy path, continuing between fences and then along the left-hand side of a meadow (at the time of writing of waving grass). This wild and wonderful countryside will now continue all the way to your destination. Your path now runs alongside a wood on your right, then runs between woods to a fingerpost [May 2019: missing]. Veer right here, as indicated, up the right-hand side of a meadow. The path bends right into a holly wood where you may run into some mud. This is Frith Wood.
- 4 Keep straight ahead on a wide path through the wood, avoiding all paths off, passing a 2-way fingerpost. In about 400m, you reach a 4-way fingerpost. Keep ahead until you reach a second 4-way fingerpost, after another 300m. Turn sharp left here and follow the path for about 400m, sometimes uphill, ignoring all paths off. Just after the path levels out, you will see a junction ahead with a fingerpost and a metal gate. Turn very sharp right on another path. (You can take a short cut right across some grass and right again at a T-junction.) In 120m, disregard a white-on-blue arrow and continue straight on. 100m further, take a wide left fork, avoiding the downhill path ahead. The path comes out of the wood and runs along the right-hand side of a crop field, followed by another, with great views of the South Downs ahead. At the bottom, continue on a track to a road and turn right into Northchapel. The Deepwell Inn at the crossroads is no more, but left on the main road takes you quickly, on the right, to the Half Moon, a 15th-century coaching inn, also a hotel, with an amazing collection of pots and pans above the inglenook (and some good food and drink, including Northchapel sausages).

Leg 3: Northchapel to
to Ansteadbrook
5 km=3 miles

- 1 After possible refreshment, leaving the Half Moon, turn left on the main road and turn left on signposted footpath in just 50m. (If you did not visit the pub, this is on the right, 50m before the pub.) Follow the path through a barrier and ignore a path on the right, continuing ahead along the left-hand side of a crop field. As you reach the corner, the edge begins to bend round to the right. Turn left here at a marker post on a path between fields, soon going over a stream. Turn right now at a T-junction by a signpost onto a brideway. Avoid a track right through the trees and stay beside the field on your left. You have fine views of Blackdown, the highest hill in Sussex (see the other walks in this series Blackdown and Hindhead and Blackdown). Eventually you reach an old barn by a house at Upper Diddlesford Farm.
- 2 Keep left into the farmyard and veer right in the direction of the yellow arrows. Go over a stile or through a metal gate and along the right-hand side of a hay field. As you meet a copse that penetrates the field edge, keep ahead over a stile (easily missed) into woodland of Wateredge Copse. Soon the path goes over a stile or over a bank by a fingerpost. It takes you across a bridge so that the stream that was unseen on your right is now on your left. You emerge at a lane opposite Jobson's Cottage. Turn right on the lane.
- 3 In just a couple of metres, go left over a stile into a high pasture. Keep left over the brow of the slope and, just over 100m from the stile, find a metal farm gate on the left. Go left through the gate and continue ahead along the right-hand side of the next big pasture. At the far side, go over a stile to a tarmac drive, nicely lined with trees on the left. Turn right onto the drive, and, where it bends left, go through a gate, turn left and follow the path that runs parallel to the drive on the other side of a hedge. Continue ahead over a stile into a wood, part of Roundhurst Common. Go uphill, fairly steeply, through this ferny wood, to emerge at a lane by a National Trust sign. Turn right on the lane.
- 4 This lane is in fact Tennyson's Lane that could take you all the way to Haslemere and serves as the jumping off point for several of our walks. Immediately ignore a signpost left by a National Trust sign. (This would take you to the top of Blackdown on the Sussex Border Path.) Continue along the lane, passing Upper Roundhurst House. At a road junction, keep ahead, avoiding the road right downhill. After a further short stretch uphill and a left curve, turn right at the entrance to Barfold.
- 5 Veer left-right on a wide track. After 500m, go right at a signpost through a wooden swing-gate on a footpath across the field. On the other side, go through a wooden gate and follow the path down, fairly steeply, through woodland. Welcome to Surrey! Note: the grass is so perfectly mown that there is little sign of a path, and no waymarker (2017). Go straight over a wide cinder path (not on the OS map, private and leading to a polo club) and continue downhill where the path will soon re-appear. At the bottom, go through a gate and continue along the left-hand side of a meadow, over a narrow stile and similarly by the next meadow. At the far corner, go over a stile and turn left on a path that runs through a strip of woodland for 300m, passing another meadow on you left. Go over a stile, or through the gate beside it, to continue on a driveway leading out to the road at Ansteadbrook.

Leg 4: Ansteadbrook to Chiddingfold 6½ km=4 miles

- 1 Cross straight over the road and go through a small wooden gate. The path turns left and right through a tree plantation and runs along the left-hand side of a large field. At the far end, go left on a track beside a house, Verney, to a lane. Cross straight over the lane over a small bridge and stile and across the centre of a small meadow. In the corner, go over a stile, carefully down some natural steps, right on the front drive of a house and immediately left on a wide tarmac driveway.

- 2 This elegant drive soon goes over a bridge with the Anstead Brook running deep beneath. You pass on your right the rather splendid Furnace Place. Later the drive becomes a track and runs for some way with a deep wooded gully on your left. You are met by a track on the left just before a pond. Keep straight on for only 20m more and turn right on a signposted bridleway. However, as a short diversion, by keeping ahead for 150m you will reach Imbhams Farm, after which you need to retrace your steps.

Imbhams farmhouse is from the 1500s and the barns have been restored to close to their original state on their raised stone stalks. This area was a centre of the iron industry at that time, the two artificial ponds providing the power. They often invite visitors and have animals, such as donkeys, on display.

The final part of the Chiddingfold Super Monster begins here.

- 3 The path runs along the left-hand side of a field and then goes left through a gap into another field. Avoid the bridleway that runs straight ahead across the field and turn right on a footpath along the right-hand side of the field. Soon you enter birch and bracken that announce the start of Frillinghurst Wood. In summer several different butterfly species may also be seen. The path goes deeper into the wood, through a clearing with bracken and back into the depths. At a junction by a 2-way fingerpost your route turns half right. You may encounter some mud at this point, caused by the springs that abound here: it will soon clear. On reaching a stream, go over a long bridge and continue uphill. At a marker post, avoid a path left, go through a kissing-gate into a meadow and avoid a footpath on the right, continuing along the right-hand side of the meadow. The path veers away from the edge to a go through a kissing-gate in a fence. Cross the next meadow and, at the other side, go through a metal gate or over a stile and turn right on a concrete track in a farmyard.

- 4 Stay on the main track through the farm and a hamlet. At a junction, a major lane joins you from the right. You pass through more woods and pass a house Dell Farm. Ignore a footpath left and stay on the lane until you pass a red tile-hung house Furzfield with a sculpted hedge on the right. Just after, take a bridleway on the right. The path runs alongside a field, re-enters woodland and eventually joins a tarmac driveway coming in from the left. This lane passes houses on both sides in the hamlet of Upper Sydenhurst. Keep straight on along this very quiet cul-de-sac lane passing several footpaths on the left. In one more km, the lane reaches the main road in Chiddingfold. Turn left and cross the road to the Crown Inn and the Green where the walk began.

Getting there

By car: both villages are on the A283 Milford-Petworth road. If coming from the London area, turn off after Guildford through Milford and take the A283 south. Sussex-dwellers should aim for Petworth and go north on the A283 to Northchapel.

By bus/train: there are several bus routes to both Chiddingfold and Northchapel from Haslemere station but they run on odd days. The best idea is to check the web for the latest options.
